first kiss

Never dare a potter.

Something Regulus Black had yet to learn. As James was flirting just for the kicks with the younger Slytherin – seeing Regulus blushing was always worth it – Regulus didn't want to surrender and fought back. One word led to another.

Daring Potter to demonstrate what an amazing kisser he claimed to be was a bad idea. Especially because Potter had to prove his awesomeness. He was James fucking Potter after all! Thus James held the younger one in position before claiming the Slytherins lips. One kiss led to another ending in the best make out session ever.
